SUN GROWN. FAMILY OWNED. FEMALE OPERATED.

Riverview Farms is the largest female-minority owned and operated cannabis company in the world. With three generations of agricultural experience and our farm located in the "Salad Bowl of the World," the Salinas Valley, we know a thing or two about growing plants.

We use tried and true agricultural methods to grow our cannabis in a sustainable way. With over 20 acres of facilities, 2500 mother plants and our own cloning and genetics program, we are able to produce quality California cannabis 365 days a year.

Our President, Michelle Hackett, was born and raised in Salinas and has been working in the agriculture space her entire career. With a Bachelor's Degree in Business from St. Mary's College of California, and years of experience in Sales & Marketing for agriculture, she continues to elevate RVF's role within the Cannabis Industry.

HOW WE GROW

GREENHOUSE GROWN MEANS STAYING GREEN FOR THE ENVIRONMENT

We're all about sustainability here at the farm. Reducing our waste and carbon footprint is an essential consideration for all steps of our operation.

We take extra steps to ensure that we're reducing our waste and leaving a minimal carbon footprint.

REDUCED WATER: Using drip irrigation allows us to reclaim all water used in the flowering cycle. Reclaimed water can be reused in sustainable agricultural methods. We also have our own fresh water well on site that is regularly tested by an outside lab.

REDUCED ENERGY: We grow using natural sunlight under full spectrum UV roofing, resulting in 40% less energy usage. Our carbon footprint is almost zero, something we pride ourselves on everyday.

REDUCED WASTE: After harvest, we sanitize and reuse all our pots that are in good condition as well as avoid single use products where practical. We also blend all of our own nutrients in-house daily and use "virgin soil" to ensure that the only additives are the food we're creating for our plants.
